

	Radow College of Humanities and Social Sciences
	Psychological Science
	Psychology, BS

Upon completion of this degree from KSU, students will be able to:

Content Knowledge: Students will recognize and apply key concepts, principles, and theories in psychology.

Scientific Inquiry: Students will evaluate psychological research as well as conduct and interpret statistical analyses.

Values in Psychological Science: Students will identify ethical standards within the field of psychology and recognize multiple sociocultural, theoretical, and individual perspectives.

Communication: Students will clearly and effectively communicate ideas concerning psychology in both oral and written formats.

Personal and Professional Development: Students will connect psychological content to workplace and life skills.